SOUTHERN PACIFIC STEAMERS TIED UP
New York, May 17.—The Southern Pacific embargo on marine freight from Galveston and New Orleans to New York became effective today. The railroad announced that the step was due directly to a strike tying up 23 steamers. The embargo will remain effective until the strike is ended. This means more rail shipments and higher freight tariffs.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

Colonel Funk Sends In His Name As a Presidential Candidate

Colonel Funk, who is a well known representative of the famous military family founded by General Funk, of Meade, Kansas, has sent in his name to Secretary of State Olcott to be filed as a candidate for president on the "progressive republican" ticket. The colonel admits that he is a competent man for the position and that he is a close friend of T. R.

His letter follows in full with what is probably his platform which appears to have been collected by a Kansas cyclor.

File my name as presidential progressive republican where rolls the Columbia. Forty years a Kansas farmer, safe and sane platform prepared. Six months in the arena before Ford read riot act to Europe. See no difference between progressive Rep. and a democrat. Formerly of Denver, helped build up the west. Forty years study science government. T. R. the man we want, am in close with T. R. Want president with a punch. There are men in the world who were made through slaughter, get a throne, etc. Land and power. Preparedness regardless of cost.

COL. FUNK, Meade, Kansas.

Cherrians May Have Chance for a Prize

The Cherrians will have a chance to compete for two prizes at the Portland Rose Festival and probably three, according to the recent action of the Portland committee in charge of the awards. Until a few days ago all the awards were such that no organization outside of Portland would stand any chance of winning. This matter was brought to the attention of the award committee. In order to induce outside organizations to take part in the festival, a special prize of $50 was offered for the best uniformed organization attending as a body, outside of Portland, and also $50 for the organization having the largest number of men in line, outside of Portland.

It is also probable that a prize of $50 will be offered for the best drilled organization taking part, outside of Portland. With these three special prizes offered, the Cherrians have prospects of at least walking away with some of the prize money. Last year they were awarded two prizes.

Willamette Notes

Maxwell Ball, editor of the Willamette Collegian, was reinstated in school yesterday afternoon. He was not required to make a public apology to the student body however as was stated in this morning's Statesman. Ball did, however, make a short speech in chapel this morning in which he stated that he was glad to be back in school, and that he could openly say that there were no other students of the university involved in the placing of the cow in the chapel on the evening of April 13.

THINK BOY MAY BE MISSING JIMMIE GLASS

Pendleton, Ore., May 17.—Pictures of a five-year-old white boy found here with a band of gypsies, were sent to Pennsylvania today in the belief that he might be the kidnaped Jimmie Glass. Officers pursued the gypsies, who were in automobiles, nearly to Walls Walls before overtaking them. The lad answered the description of Jimmie Glass in every particular except that he had no mole on the back of his neck. The gypsies declared they had adopted the boy when he was two years old.

WOMAN IS CANDIDATE

Mrs. Helen I. Tomlinson is the first woman to present herself to the democratic electorate of Oregon as a delegate to a national convention and is the only woman whose name appears upon the ballot for that office.

She is a self supporting young woman, having been for some years a writer of local and magazine repute. She is a native of Mississippi, but for the past 10 years has claimed Oregon as her adopted state, during which time she has lived in a variety of activities of both a civic and social nature.

Mrs. Tomlinson is now engaged in writing an article relative to her campaign experiences, which will be published and will appear in the leading publications in various parts of the United States, thus giving wide publicity to practical suffrage in Oregon.

Being a democrat in the strictest sense of the word, Mrs. Tomlinson believes that the principles of democracy should be not merely preached, but lived. She has stated tersely in her platform that she will "abide by the choice of the democratic party of Oregon," and her slogan is: "Woodrow Wilson and all the exalted principles and sane government for which the name is sponsor."

The democratic party of Oregon sends 10 delegates to the St. Louis convention. The women's vote in the democratic party is equal to that of the men's and they are entitled to representation in the convention. President Wilson will receive a strong support from the women in the November election. The democratic party of California is sending four women to St. Louis, and the democrats of Oregon can't afford to miss this opportunity of sending a representative of the women to our national convention.

Press the Button First In Elevators—Or Out

This is a story of Congressman J. A. Mills and the automatic elevator in the Salem Bank of Commerce building, entitled, "Safe on Third."

Having business in the building, Mr. Mills happened in shortly before the noon hour. After this hour, for a short time, those wishing to travel to the upper floors, press the button and act as elevator boy for themselves.

An automatic elevator is no respecter of persons, going on the theory of the first to press the button, first to get the elevator. As Mr. Mills is somewhat accustomed to city ways, he pressed the button all right, but some one beat him to it.

When the elevator stopped, again he pressed the button and again the elevator took a trip, regardless of the fact that one of the city fathers was safe on the third floor, preferring to be at the home base. Three times did the automatic refuse to stop at third. On the fourth trip past, Walter Winslow, who happens to be running for office and consequently is in an accommodating frame of mind at all times, noted the alderman patiently waiting on the third floor. It pays to be kind to one's fellow sufferers, especially before election, and Mr. Winslow at once proceeded to take charge of the elevator, rescuing Mr. Mills after 13 1/2 minutes patient waiting. Moral: If you want to ride on an automatic elevator, press the button first.
